TROY BAILEY

Google

Troy is a senior counsel with Google. He earned his BA in accounting and JD from the University of Washington and his LLM in taxation from New York University. Prior to joining Google, Troy practiced law with various law firms, including Cooley Godward and Davis Wright Tremaine before joining the Expedia legal team, focusing on mergers & acquisitions.

While in high school, Troy was the principal bassist in the Tacoma Youth Symphony and has since played with various community symphonies. Troy acquired his love for classical music and jazz from his father and grandfather.

Troy spends the majority of his free time with his family and friends having good conversations and laughs over meals and drinks. He also loves reading, movies, travel, boating and playing the bass.
